

Own Your Brand!

The professional workplace is changing.

Are you finding yourself at a point of transition as a result?

Are you finding it harder to identify or promote your own set of values and presence?

Are you struggling to find relatable and experienced coaches and mentors to help you through these issues?

I founded LoGho Executive coaching to provide that help.

My coaching is grounded in lived experiences of being a c-suite level female of colour. This allows me to offer you wisdom and understanding I have gained along the way.

What is the role or path you want? How do you want to be perceived?
How do you want to interact with your peers and teams? Take control!

Defining and owning your own brand empowers you to take control of your career and influence others.

Get in touch to find out how LoGho Executive Coaching can help you define and own your path.

Own Your Brand!